Introduction

1. At all times relevant to Counts One to Five of this Indictment:

a. Defendant RUFUS SETH WILLIAMS was the District Attorney for the City and County of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, the largest prosecutor's office in Pennsylvania. He was elected to his first four-year term on or about November 3, 2009, was sworn into office on or about January 4, 2010, and was reelected on or about November 6, 2013. In this capacity, defendant WILLIAMS received an annual salary of approximately $170,000. Defendant WILLIAMS was the chief law enforcement officer for the City and County of Philadelphia and served approximately 1.5 million residents. Defendant WILLIAMS supervised approximately 300 Assistant District Attorneys, in addition to numerous detectives and support staff. As the District Attorney, defendant WILLIAMS was in a position to influence, and did influence, actions taken by and on behalf of the District Attorney's Office (the "DAO") and other City and County law enforcement personnel, including with respect to cases handled by the DAO. From in or about 2005 to in or about 2008, defendant WILLIAMS served as Inspector General of the City of Philadelphia. As Inspector General, defendant WILLIAMS was responsible for the investigation of corruption, fraud, waste, abuse, and employee misconduct among municipal workers and companies doing business with the City of Philadelphia.

b. Business Owner #1 owned a business that sold prepaid telephone cards. Defendant WILLIAMS first met Business Owner #1 in or about early 2010.

c. Person #1 was the subject of a criminal case being prosecuted by the DAO and was a friend of Business Owner #1.

d. Person #2 was defendant WILLIAMS's girlfriend.

e. Police Official #1 was an official in the Philadelphia Police Department (the "PPD"), whose responsibilities included supervising security matters at the Philadelphia International Airport.

2. As the District Attorney for the City and County of Philadelphia, defendant WILLIAMS had an obligation to file Statements of Financial Interest ("SFI") with the City of Philadelphia reporting financial interests that he held during the previous calendar year, according to the City of Philadelphia's Code of Ethics. Defendant WILLIAMS was required to disclose the name and address of any person (not including family members) who gave him gifts during the prior calendar year that were worth $200 or more in the aggregate. For each gift, defendant WILLIAMS was required to disclose the name and address of the source, its amount or value, and the circumstances of the gift. Gifts included anything of value, such as services, loans, entertainment, meals and tickets to sporting events, including: (1) the value of any benefit worth $200 or more received by virtue of a loan made upon terms that were commercially unreasonable in the ordinary course of business; and (2) any transaction in which the amount of money or property value received by the office holder (or a member of his immediate family) exceeded the money or property value that was paid or exchanged by the office holder (or a member of his immediate family). Defendant WILLIAMS also was required to report each loan or debt over $5,000 (except for the mortgage on his principal residence) and any direct or indirect source of income of $500 or more.

For each source of gifts having an aggregate value of $250 or more, defendant WILLIAMS was required to disclose the name and address of the source; the circumstances, including a description, of each gift; and the value of each gift. Defendant WILLIAMS's Commonwealth disclosure requirements, however, did not obligate him to disclose gifts from friends or family members when the circumstances made it clear that the motivation for the action was a personal or family relationship. Further, under his Commonwealth disclosure obligations, defendant WILLIAMS was required to disclose the source and amount of each payment or reimbursement by the source for transportation, lodging, or hospitality that he received in connection with his public position if the aggregate amount of each such payment or reimbursement by the source exceeded $650 for the calendar year. 3. From in or about February 2012 to in or about November 2013, in the Eastern District of Pennsylvania, defendant knowingly and intentionally did devise and intend to devise a scheme and artifice to defraud the Nursing Home and the Friends, and to obtain money and property by means of materially false and fraudulent pretenses, representations, and promises.

4. It was part of the scheme that:

a. During in or about 2012, instead of applying Williams's Relative's income to the Nursing Home as he had agreed, defendant WILLIAMS diverted a total of approximately $10,319 of Williams's Relative's income for his own personal benefit, through cash withdrawals and his payment of personal expenses, including his mortgage and electrical services at his home. To conceal his diversion of these funds, in or about May 2012, defendant WILLIAMS falsely represented to employees of the Nursing Home that Williams's Relative – and not defendant WILLIAMS – was the one spending Williams's Relative's pension and Social Security income instead of forwarding such income to the Nursing Home.

b. In or about October 2013, the Friends provided a check for $10,000 to Williams's Relative to help defray Williams's Relative's expenses at the Nursing Home. This check was payable to defendant WILLIAMS, who deposited the check into his account at a financial institution in Philadelphia. Although he knew that this money was intended for Williams's Relative's care at the Nursing Home, defendant WILLIAMS spent the entire $10,000 for his own personal benefit, including through cash withdrawals, restaurant expenses, and his payment of personal expenses, including mortgage payments and tuition.

5. On or about the dates set forth below, in the Eastern District of Pennsylvania, and elsewhere, for the purpose of executing and attempting to execute this scheme and artifice to defraud, defendant
